

This service perpetually looks for BLE beacons. If one is detected, it then immediately tries to find a button. If so, it spawns a monitor for this button. This service then periodically checks the status of this monitor.

* No BT devices need to be "paired"!!